

CAROL SINGERS

YOUNG PEOPLE MAKE HAPPY CHRISTMAS FOR THE SHUT-INS

Four members of the choir of the Glendale Congregational Church spent Christmas Eve visiting the homes of their friends and singing Christmas carols. The quartette consisted of Mesdames Edna Abell and A. R. Chappell and Messrs. Ralph Beers and Blake Franklin. They made eight calls.

The following morning enterprising young people of the Central Christian Church left their warm beds at 4 o'clock and at 4:30 started on their rounds as carolers, lighted by a big, brilliant moon and bright stars. They say it was a perfect Christmas morning. They made twenty-three calls, singing "Joy to the World" at each stop, besides other Christmas songs, including "Holy Night," and their visits were much appreciated. Their last stop, at about 7 a. m., was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Kilborn, where they were entertained with a delicious breakfast of steaming, fragrant coffee and hot biscuits of the real Southern sort, which tasted exceedingly good to the hungry crowd that included: Willard Learned, Robert Gray, Martha Ray, Birdie Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cole, Rev. Clifford Cole, Misses Lillian and Birdie Shropshire, Miss Laura Wilford Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Whittaker.

In the Tropico district members of the Christian Endeavor Society met at the church on Central Avenue and Laurel Street Christmas Eve, where automobiles were awaiting them, and made a little tour of the district, singing for the pleasure of the sick and shut-ins. Their first call was at the Mission Rest Home on San Fernando Road, where guests came out on the porches or raised the windows of their sick rooms to greet them.

MR. AND MRS. EMERY ENTERTAIN

The home of E. U. Emery on Kenwood Street was the scene of a delightful family gathering and Christmas dinner party, at which covers were laid for seventeen, viz: Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Bryant and their sons, Hugh, Dean and Albert; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Ferguson and daughter, Esther; Mrs. Hattie Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, Wainita, Gilbert, Josephine and Olive Bell Emery. The absence of Sergt. Owen Emery, who is with the army in France, was the only drawback to the pleasure of the occasion. The Emery home was gay with poinsettias and Christmas greens and a bountiful, old-fashioned Christmas dinner was served, at which two turkeys were carved, with all the trimmings that properly belong to such a feast. In the afternoon the guests enjoyed music, games and a general social good time.

DEATH OF ALEXANDER HOSACK

Alexander B. Hosack entered into rest at his home, 703 East Harvard Street, Thursday, Dec. 26, at 10 a. m. at the age of 90 years. He leaves to mourn his death, his widow, three daughters, Elizabeth Hosack, Luella Hosack and Mrs. J. W. Fairchild of Glendale, and two sons, George M. of Pittsburg and M. J. of Allegheny, Pa.

The deceased had been a resident of Glendale for many years, and the members of the family have a host of friends here. He was a devout Christian and a member of the Old Redstone Presbytery.

On Thursday, Dec. 19, Mr. and Mrs. Hosack celebrated their sixty-third wedding anniversary.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Interment at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, the Jewel City Undertaking Co. in charge.

CHRISTMAS AT THE GREGG HOME

Miss Bettie Gregg of South Central Avenue, who is a student at Berkeley, motored down for the Christmas holidays with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Anaskoy, whose marriage occurred recently, Miss Gregg being one of the bridesmaids. They were guests of honor at a Christmas dinner at the Gregg home at which covers were laid for Derrick Paine (at home for the holidays from the military academy at San Diego), for I. S. Brown, from the naval base at San Pedro; for Mrs. Mrs. D. L. Gregg, Rosebud, Eleanor, Jessie, Margaret and Rebecca Gregg. D. L. Gregg, father of the family, was absent in Salt Lake City and unable to get home for Christmas.

A SOLDIER'S LUCK

NEPHEW OF MRS. MULVIHILL SAFE AND SOUND AFTER TWO MONTHS AT FRONT

Mrs. Mulvihill of 134 South Louise Street, this city, is in receipt of a characteristic letter from her nephew in service overseas, which is dated Nov. 20 and written from a Knights of Columbus hut. In it he says:

"I received your glad and welcome letter of October 14 five days ago and was compound delighted to hear from you. Ever since the day I landed in France I have thought of you, but could not send you a line, as I had not your correct address.

"I was very glad to learn both from yourself and from Ma that you are not lacking in the good things of life out there in California and that good cheer is not a scarcity with you.

"Of course it is needless for me to tell you of the big events that have happened in Europe from the time the Bulgarians withdrew until the abdication of the kaiser and the signing of the armistice, as I know you are not backward in reading the newspapers.

"Yes, Auntie, the war is practically over now, although the treaty of peace is not signed yet, and it all came about as the result of a succession of surprises which, in my opinion, but few people were able to foresee.

"My outfit had hardly been in France two weeks when we saw ourselves up at the front lines, and we have been there ever since. We got into the fighting zone to experience the final two months of hostilities, and we are still in the same area, but the roar of American artillery and the crash of German shells has ceased to be heard, for everything has remained quiet along the frontier since the Germans signed the armistice and began evacuating Allied territory.

"Yes, Auntie, during my stay in the zone of hostilities I have gone through experiences that will never leave my memory, and I am thanking the Lord that my good health is still with me.

The land and villages all about us are nothing but a mass of ruins and destruction for many miles, and they abound in dugouts, trenches and barbed wire entanglements, lifeless trees and shell holes.

The boys of the U. S. A. are certainly immensely joyful and heaping with glee over the fruits and blessings of complete victory, which at last we came to realize, and we are all waiting with patience the prospect of returning to the home land. The sick and wounded will no doubt be shipped home first, and the others will probably be withdrawn after the treaty of peace. I cannot tell when I will see home again, but I have just got to sit tight and wait.

"As it probably will be the holiday season when this reaches you, I am going to take the opportunity of greeting you with many best wishes for a good old Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

"Your loving nephew, PHIL. Co. C, 54th Pioneer Inf., A. P. O. 914."

DEATH OF MRS BARBARA MITCHELL

The celebration of Christmas in the home of Alexander Mitchell of Kenneth Road, North Glendale, was saddened by news contained in a letter received this week by Mr. Mitchell announcing the death in November of his mother, Mrs. Barbara Mitchell of Tower Hill, Cults, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, at the age of 82 years. The letter was from his sister, who thought the message would come in that way with less of a shock than by cable. She had been in ill health for some years. About twelve years ago she visited Glendale and was the guest of her son, Alexander, making many friends here and greatly enjoying her stay. She was an unusual woman in many ways and was the mother of eleven living children and of three who died in infancy. Mr. Mitchell has not seen Scotland for thirty years and had been planning to visit it next summer. He has three brothers in this country—George Mitchell, who divides his time between Wyoming and his home in North Glendale; Fergie Mitchell, who lives in Wyoming, and Shives Mitchell of King City. All the other members of the family are overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koepke, former residents of Glendale, who have been living in Oregon for several years, have purchased the property at 1315 South Central Avenue formerly owned by Mrs. West. Mrs. Etta Marsh, who has been occupying a portion of it, will remain and share it with Mr. and Mrs. Koepke, who are old friends.

WIVES AND SWEETHEARTS MUTINY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

London, Dec. 27.—Wives and sweethearts of mutinous sailors joined in the defense of the royal palace against the loyal guard, Berlin dispatches declare. The sailors have technically surrendered, but have refused to leave the city or continue support of Ebert.

Spartacides under the leadership of Liebknecht propose to force the resignation of the ministry. They hold the Vorwaert plant with eighteen machine guns and an armored car, and are issuing the publication, the "Red Vorwoertz."

Portions of the palace are still held by the sailors, and the government troops are in the remainder.

Washington, Dec. 27.—The Russian Bolsheviks have drafted 500,000 citizens under fear of death by violence or starvation, according to State Department advices. These include a considerable number of Austrians and Chinese. Food is extremely scarce. Workers loading the Swedish steamer at Petrograd were said to be emaciated and reported by the captain as stealing the garbage for food.

Odesa and Kieff are in danger of capture by the Bolsheviks. Reports of an attempt to kill General Seminoff, anti-Bolshevik leader, have been confirmed. Hand grenades were thrown at him, but he was not seriously injured.

Stockholm, Dec. 27.—Allied invasion of Russia will result only in great slaughter, Boris Litvinoff declared in a note to President Wilson on behalf of the Soviet government. Notes have been sent to America, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, offering to discuss peace with the Bolsheviks.

Litvinoff declares the Bolsheviks are attempting to build a social system where all peoples will have equal opportunity. He said the red terror would follow rather than precede intervention.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

RAILROAD COMMISSION GRANTS INCREASE IN RATES TO EDISON CO.

The board assembled Dec. 26 at 7:45 p. m., all members being present. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved. An application was received from Maria L. Patterson for exemption from taxation under the tax exemption act relating to soldiers and soldiers' widows, and upon motion of Trustee Henry it was ordered that the exemption be granted and the affidavit filed by the applicant be received.

The health officer presented a report for the week ending on this date, covering the influenza situation, to the effect that there had been during the week a total of fifty cases, the highest number being thirteen on Friday of last week down to four on this date.

The report of the tax collector for the week was received, showing a collection of $2,024.80 for the week, making a total of $53,931.07 for the season.

Demands were presented and referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Courtney called attention to the practice of burning tree trimmings on the street in close proximity to residences, and on motion of Trustee Shaw it was ordered that hereafter the disposition of such material be made in a manner and at a place where it can cause no offense.

A communication was read from J. E. Barker, the expert employed by the city in connection with securing data to be used in connection with the case of the city against the telephone company rising from the proposed increase of rates, accompanied by a bill for services amounting to $209.06. The bill was in accordance with an agreement to pay Mr. Barker for a period limited to six days at $25 a day, in addition to expenses of a trip to San Francisco and other incidentals. A motion made by Trustee Muhleman was adopted requesting Mr. Barker to file a written report.

Trustee Shaw presented an ordinance which was read, "providing for the levy and collection of taxes by certain officers of the County of Los Angeles."

The manager of the public service department reported that the state railroad commission has granted the Edison Company permission to raise its rates and that this will result in an increased cost to the city of Glendale of $265.00 a month for power.

A motion of Trustee Shaw was adopted that when the board adjourn it be to assemble at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Dec. 31, 1918.

The chairman brought to the attention of the board the matter of the city's garbage contract with Tom Shima, who had defaulted some time ago, leaving his partner in a condition which has appeared to render his carrying out the terms of the contract impossible, and the chairman therefore recommended the cancellation of the contract. On motion of Trustee Henry the city attorney was directed to prepare the papers necessary for the termination of the present garbage contract and the execution of a new one.

On motion of Trustee Muhleman it was ordered that payment be made to the chairman of the publicity committee of the Third Liberty Loan of the sum of $96 for advertising, divided as follows: $48 from the public service fund and $48 from the general budget fund, to be charged to music and promotion.

Demands were reported back from the finance committee, approved, and on motion of Trustee Shaw warrants were ordered to be issued in payment of the same.

A SOLDIER CHRONICLE

LIEUT. ROBERT PLUME TELLS HOW NEAR HE CAME TO GETTING TO FRONT LINE

Since the armistice was signed, Mrs. Robert Plume of this city has received interesting letters from her husband, Lieutenant Robert Plume of the 160th Infantry, describing many things which he was forbidden under the censorship from putting on paper before. She has generously allowed the Evening News to publish the following extracts:

"November 14, 1918. "Well, I am back with the regiment now in an entirely different part of France and have had the opportunity of seeing a large part of the country. I spent a day in Paris, as I had to pass through it, and found it to be a remarkably beautiful city.

"Just at present we are billeted in one of the old chateaus of France, a relic of the feudal days, with a large moat around it. It has been taken and retaken several times during the war and everything around it shows the effect of terrific fighting. Napoleon once lived here, and General Foch used it for headquarters at one time.

"All France is rejoicing over the conclusion of hostilities and from the people's action one can understand how much the victory means to them and how fearful they must have been at times of another kind of an ending.

"I have just read the armistice conditions accepted by Germany. Our victory is complete. Since Monday the big guns have stopped roaring and now everything is quiet around here. We cannot help but think at this time of the men who are not with us now. I have lost some mighty good friends over here and the old 160th is minus some of the best officers and men that came over.

"Now that hostilities have ceased of course we all look ahead to the time when we will start home, but it may not come for a few months. I do not think we will stay here long and would not be surprised if we were moved up to occupy German territory. In fact I rather expect it.

"Blesmes, France, Nov. 25, 1918. "You will undoubtedly be surprised to see the name of a town at the head of this letter, but the censorship regulations have been somewhat modified. It is now possible for us to give our location and something of our past movements. This little place where we hang up our hats just now is in the Marne district, in the north-

A JOLLY CHRISTMAS

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Crampton and friends enjoyed a triangular Christmas celebration this year which began with two family dinner parties, one at the home of Mrs. Charles Hallett at 215 East Maple Street, who entertained her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller; Miss Margaret Du Bois of Los Angeles, Mrs. W. A. Schumann of Wichita, the aunt of Mrs. Hallett, and Mrs. Edna Hildreth of Independence, Cal.

The other dinner party was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Isitt of 724 South Maryland, whose guests were: Mr. and Mrs. John W. Myers of Long Beach, Mrs. Mary Flynn of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Crampton and their daughter, Grace.

In the evening both parties gathered at the Crampton home on Chestnut street, where Santa Claus had been before them and left absurd gifts for all the guests, with which they had great sport, the whole evening being a Christmas frolic of games, music and nonsense, with refreshments served by the hostess about 10 p. m. All those entertained were old friends and all voted it was one of the happiest Christmases they had ever spent. All the homes were beautifully decorated with holly and poinsettias.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton and their family were guests at a very delightful Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Fannie Barmore, Twenty-third Street and Thompson, Los Angeles, where their daughter, Mrs. Hillyard, and her husband reside, Mr. Hillyard being a nephew of Mrs. Barmore. Seventeen members of the family were present and enjoyed to the fullest extent the gracious hospitality of this large-hearted woman. There were beautiful Christmas decorations, a splendid turkey dinner and a happy evening of music and conversation. One interesting feature of the day was the baptism by Rev. Norton of baby Wallace Vagado Winton, 6-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Winton, friends of the family.

ORANGE WORK BY CONTRACT

Orange culture in Southern California was thought to have reached the acme of economy and efficiency, but it remained for the war to teach lessons in co-operation that have been taken to heart by a group of orange growers at Upland, and that may lead to a revolution in soil culture economics in California.

The Liberty Groves Operating Corporation, a non-profit mutual association, the first of its kind, will soon be in operation at Upland. It will do for the grower in the care of his orchard what the exchange does in the sale of his fruit. It is, in fact, a purely socialistic plan, the exception that the participants retain the title to their land and its product.

Otherwise the socialistic idea of community ownership of machinery and the common distribution of labor is the germ of the Upland plan. The foundation for the experiment has been carefully worked out by practical and successful orange growers, who may be surprised to be termed socialistic, but who are sanguine of the success of the new enterprise.

The machinery and other working resources of the members will be pooled and the co-operative association will care for the groves of its members at cost, doing the plowing, cultivating, irrigation, pruning, fruit picking, hauling to packing houses and all other orchard work up to the actual delivery of the ripened fruit to the exchange for sale.

If one of the members has a tractor, it will be leased by the association for all the members. The actual cost of operating the tractor will be charged against each unit of land upon which it is used, plus a charge for interest and depreciation. In this manner, individual members of the association will not have to each buy a tractor, but will have a community tractor working for them.

The same principle will be applied to teams and labor. "No idle machinery, teams or labor," is the slogan of the association. It is estimated that the plan will enable the members of the association to have their orchards cultivated at an extremely low cost as compared with individual cultivation of separate units.

The by-laws have been carefully worked out to give the individual members as much freedom of action as possible. He may stipulate to do his own pruning, or his own irrigation, or attend to some other feature of cultivation himself, and at his own charge, or he may call upon the association to perform the entire work of his orange grove.—Monrovia News.

A SOLDIER'S CHRONICLE

eastern part of France. It is south of Verdun and southwest of Metz, north a short distance from St. Dizier. Now get your French map and see if you can locate me. I expect, though, that by the time this reaches Glendale we will be a long way from here. I certainly hope so.

"I will try to give you an outline of our movements since leaving Camp Kearny, as this is the first chance I have had to mention names. We left camp July 26 about 8 p. m. with about 500 men on the train. Passed through Needles, Las Vegas, Salt Lake, Ogden, Omaha, Chicago, then up through Canada, came down through Buffalo, Scranton and so into New York. We were in Camp Mills four days and left Aug. 7.

"We sailed from New York the next day, on the British steamer 'Cretic,' in the evening, picking up the other ten ships of our convoy during the night. Our trip afloat lasted for twelve days and we took an extremely northern route, passing several icebergs. It was surely the coldest weather I ever experienced in the summer months. The last day out we ran down between Ireland and Scotland through the really dangerous submarine zone, but had no trouble. Landed in Liverpool on the 20th and the next day traveled through England to the large camp at Winchester, the old capital; stayed there only three days and then to Southampton. We boarded a channel steamer and pulled out after dusk, crossing the channel that night—a night never to be forgotten. Again we were fortunate. But the Major will have another story to tell you. He came over on another ship. His ship was not injured, but the sub was.

We landed at La Havre, and since then we have seen a large part of France. Our unit for a time was located in La Gurchie in the central part of France, at which place we were a replacement division. The majority of our men and about half the officers were transferred up into the front line, but I was not so fortunate (or unfortunate) and stayed with the regiment.

"Since then we have been up in the Marne sector back of the lines. Shortly before the armistice was signed we started for the front, but were halted when hostilities ceased. If it had lasted a couple of weeks more I would have had the chance to go over the top. Those who went through the fight deserve more credit than they will ever get. It was simply beyond any description that can be written. Several of our old officers have recently passed through here on their way back from the hospital and they certainly had some wonderful stories to tell. One of our old captains is here now. He was in that battalion that was cut off for six days in the Argonne Forest. Perhaps you have read of it. He was severely wounded, but is getting along all right now.

"Well, it is all over now and in the way we looked forward to. Without any question the Americans turned the scale against the Huns. You should hear the French officers speak of the American doughboy, and also the Hun prisoners.

"So far we have not been included in the army of occupation, and we all long for the time to come when we will start back home. I only hope that we do not have to march from here to the coast, but if so, I guarantee that we will make mighty good time.

"Remember me to all and give the family my best wishes for a happy New Year. Mine will come when I get off the train in Los Angeles.

"ROBERT."

Personals

The XIV Girls will not meet Saturday of this week, the meeting having been postponed until after the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Legge, who have been residing at 335 North Maryland, have to move and are looking for a house, as the one they are in has been sold.

N. P. Banks Post and Corps are holding a special all-day meeting today. The ladies of the corps served luncheon at noon the veterans whose birthdays are in December were especially honored.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith of Maryland Avenue had expected to spend Christmas at Lancaster with friends, but Mrs. Smith was taken sick and had to send for the doctor and go to bed instead of celebrating.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Chambers of South Glendale Avenue had a beautiful Christmas gift in a little daughter born Christmas night at Thornycroft Hospital. She has two sisters and one brother, and the family is considering naming her Georgia.

Sickness in the home of A. S. Chase on Riverdale Drive somewhat dampened the Christmas joy, as two members of the family have influenza, one of the two being Mrs. Chase. Both are convalescent, however, and doing nicely.

Captain Montague Cleaves of Boynton Street has been at home for a holiday furlough, but goes back to Camp Kearny Friday. He has been assigned to the duty of examining the outgoing men and does not know when he will receive his discharge.

Miss Minnie Cross, formerly employed in the public service department in this city, but now with an abstract and title company in Santa Barbara, is spending the holidays here with her sister, Miss Margaret L. Cross of Third Street.

Rev. C. R. Norton was made very happy when the members of the J. O. C. class of the First Methodist Church, of which he is associate teacher, remembered that December is his birth month and presented him with a handsome bouquet of carnations in honor of the event.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Lusby entertained on Christmas day with a family dinner at which covers were laid for Mrs. H. A. Wilson, Verne Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lusby, Miss Margaret Lusby, Mrs. J. B. Emery and Mrs. May Lord. The guests remained for the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallace Kimberly had as their dinner guests on Christmas Mrs. Sprossell and her daughter, Miss Margaret Kelley, formerly of Deming, N. M. Captain Sprossell is in France. Later in the day several friends from Los Angeles came out and spent the evening with the Kimberlys.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin entertained with a family dinner party Christmas day, their guest list including Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker and Booth Franklin, from Michigan, who is spending the winter in Los Angeles. A pleasant afternoon was spent together following the dinner, and kodak pictures were taken of the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bullis of Central Avenue and Los Feliz Road were host and hostess at a family Christmas party at which Mrs. Bullis' brother, R. B. Marden of Oakland, was a guest; also Mr. Bullis' sister, Mrs. George Woolley and her husband and children, including her son, Elmer Francis, who has been in the transport service of the U. S. navy and arrived at San Pedro a few weeks ago, and who was granted a holiday furlough that he might be with his family on Christmas.

Christmas was a sad time for Mrs. Amy Crist of Boynton Street, whose brother, Warren McCulloch, with whom she had been closely associated for many years, passed away recently and was buried from the Little Church of the Flowers last Thursday. He was 41 years of age, was unmarried and had made his home with her. During his sojourn on Boynton Street he had made many friends in that part of the city and will be missed.

Glendale has been fortunate in having a holiday season unmarred by accidents or crimes of any sort. The nearest approach reported was a collision which occurred this (Friday) morning between an auto trailer, which was loaded with lumber and which broke loose from its conveyer, and an auto following, which bumped into it and was considerably damaged, though its passengers escaped without personal injury. The trailer belonged to a Los Angeles man, the injured auto to a resident of Burbank, and the accident occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock on the San Fernando Road near Pacific Avenue.

Miss Marie Oliver of North Central Avenue is entertaining a party of young people this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison and daughter, Inez, were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lenox of Van Nuys.

The Evening News is not sent to subscribers after date to which subscription is paid. If, perchance, you get a few copies after date of expiration of subscription, do not worry about it, as it is the policy of the office to send the paper out only when paid for in advance. We are receiving many compliments upon the new and business-like method.

Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Barnes of North Brand Boulevard entertained at dinner on Christmas day. Poinsettias and holly were used in decoration of the handsomely appointed table, at which covers were laid for six in addition to the host and hostess, viz: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Barnes and their son and daughter, Mansford and Harriet Barnes.

The presence of their sailor boy, Gordon Clayton, with his chum, Ensign Lewis Reed, made a merry Christmas for Mr. and Mrs. G. Clayton. Unfortunately, their son, Roy Clayton, could not obtain a furlough until New Year's. He will be with them then, and Gordon, who arrived Saturday noon, has been granted a long enough leave to take in the Elks' New Year's Eve ball. He has no idea when he will be released from service; says the government can hold the boys until six months after the peace treaty is signed, but to reduce expense it is gradually releasing them now.

FAMILY PARTY AT JONES HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of 340 North Orange Street were host and hostess at a family dinner party on Christmas day at which covers were laid for eighteen. Their guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Phillips and their daughters, Anna and Geraldine; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans and daughter, Katherine; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Pigg and sons, Dudley and Billie Pigg; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Furst; Mrs. M. E. Smith, mother of the hostess, and Miss Winifred Jones, daughter of the house. The principal toast of the day was to Mrs. Smith. The dinner was followed by a distribution of Christmas gifts and a social afternoon of music and conversation.

DEATH OF MRS. BETTCHER

Mrs. C. A. Bettcher of 1456 Sycamore Avenue passed to the life beyond Tuesday, Dec. 24, on the thirtieth anniversary of her birth, leaving a husband and two small children to mourn for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Bettcher came here from Chicago two years ago and are well known here. Her sudden death from pneumonia was a great shock to her friends. She was a woman of charming personality, a devoted wife and mother.

The remains will be taken to her former home in Chicago for burial.

A GOOD RECORD

A very happy Christmas was enjoyed at the Padelford home, 335 Fairview Avenue, both boys being released from army service. Emerson recently received his honorable discharge from normal school S. A. T. C. and Sergeant Carlton Padelford also received his honorable discharge from the First Company, C. A. C., at Fort MacArthur. The family is very proud of Carlton's record in the service. Soon after his promotion to corporal he was recommended for officers' training school and took the preliminary course and was then promoted to sergeant. The coast artillery is one of the highest branches of the army and a college education is almost necessary to pass the examinations for officers' training school, so when the call was made for men of this character to prepare for officers' positions, over 200 professional men and men of wealth and big affairs in Los Angeles, including our own superintendent of schools, Prof. R. D. White, responded, and they formed the First Company, C. A. C. Sergeant Padelford was assigned to this company to help give them their military training and was acting sergeant-major of the company for a while, which is the highest non-commissioned officer. The confidence of the commanding officer in his ability to instruct these men was an honor, but Carlton's only wish was to go across and lead his men over the top and get a punch at those Huns.

SAD NEWS FOR M'KEE FAMILY

Mrs. E. S. McKee and daughter, Mildred, of 318 West Colorado, who have been confined to their home by influenza, are about well and expect to be out of quarantine tomorrow. Sad news has come to the McKee home in a telegram announcing the death of a brother-in-law in Indiana, but giving no particulars, and a letter (received the same day) telling of the death of Mrs. McKee's niece of influenza, leaving an infant daughter. Her mother had passed away just two weeks before of influenza, and these relatives also live in Indiana.

In ascending the hill of life the genuine man hopes he will never meet a friend.

TWO CHRISTMAS SERVICES

The Tropico Presbyterian Sunday school had two very interesting Christmas services.

Last Friday evening the Sunday school room was gaily decorated for a Christmas party by the young people's classes. Festoons of English ivy and green-and-red crepe paper, wreaths of ivy and many red bells were used, but the center of attraction was a large tree which graced one corner of the room.

The program opened with the song, "Joy to the World," which was followed by a number of songs and recitations by the various classes and members of the school. When Santa Claus made his appearance, all the eyes of the little folks were turned on him, for he carried in his pack cornucopias of candy for all the children. The tree also had little presents for each of the primary ones. Those who were absent on account of sickness were also remembered. The girls of the I. C. O. class helped Santa Claus to distribute the candy. Each one present also received a sprig of cypress tied on a little card bearing a Christmas wish.

At the Sunday evening service the Sunday school had charge of the exercises, which were grouped under the general theme, "In the Service of the King," the thought being that as the Star of Bethlehem was God's service flag when He gave His Son for the salvation of humanity and to bring about peace on earth and good will toward men, so the stars on the church service flag have stood for the service of our boys for humanity and peace. All the recitations and stories that evening bore out this thought. A Christmas wreath was placed on the church service flag and another around the picture of the little Armenian girl whom the Sunday school has been supporting the past year.

A large collection was taken for the work of the Presbyterian Church in Bible lands, and all present enjoyed the opportunity to participate in this beautiful service of giving.

COTTON ANOTHER DETHRONED KING

(By United Press)

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 26.—Will the South, having been "in the saddle" several years, be satisfied to revert to its pre-war status in industry and agriculture?

Judging from these reports gathered from all sections of the South, Dixie will not revert to its old pre-war status. Never before in the history of Dixie has there been such a buzz of commercial, industrial and agricultural activity as now.

New industries are springing into existence daily; old ones are enlarging their facilities; merchants are increasing their stocks; banks have more money than ever before, and the southern farmer, having learned his lesson in diversified crop-raising to help win the war, will never again revert to the one product crop—cotton—prominent planters declare.

"Diversified crops" henceforth will be the slogan of the southern farmer. Modern agricultural implements, considered only a few years ago as experiments, are being used to relieve the labor shortage.

With many tens of thousands of acres of land heretofore idle, the South has started a concerted drive to have the federal government parcel this land for soldier and sailor settlements, thus absorbing to some extent the labor surplus when the boys returning from overseas are mustered out.

For the avowed purpose of rapidly assisting agricultural development in West Tennessee, Eastern Arkansas and North Mississippi, two new stock banks, with a combined loaning capacity of $7,500,000, have recently opened in Memphis. These banks have been chartered by the federal farm loan board at Washington, and will operate under the federal farm loan law.

Birmingham and Jefferson County, Alabama, are planning to spend between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 in permanent improvements, now that peace permits the release of material from government work.

Real estate dealers in Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans, Jacksonville, Nashville and other large southern cities assert that they are receiving daily scores of calls for residence, industrial buildings and vacant lots.

Industrial plants in the South which had war contracts cancelled as a result of cessation of hostilities are switching to civil contracts with little trouble. Industrial men generally assert that they are glad to get back on civil contracts as there is more money in them.

CAMOUFLAGE

I know a lady in Glendale whose husband owns a store, with whom I used to trade, and this said woman lady actually buys from one of those peddling wagons which come out from Los Angeles, instead of trading with her own townsfolk. This wagon carries all kinds of articles under the cloak of tea and coffee.

Wonder if this woman's husband knows, or what he would think if all his customers deserted him to trade in Los Angeles?

I don't trade at that woman's husband's store any more. My money goes to Mr. Reciprocity. Trade at home, support home industry; you can do better. Stick to one store, don't go running about to buy sugar at every place. You will receive better treatment and not lose your identity.

ITALY DECORATES 36,718 MEN

Rome, Italy.—In one day recently there were conferred on soldiers in the Italian army 36,718 medals for valor, representing acts of heroism that had taken place at the front during several months previous.

Of the 36,718 medals, nearly 7,000 were awarded to the memory of soldiers who had lost their lives in the deed of heroism that had merited distinction, the medal in this case going to their families. The other 30,000 were given to soldiers who had survived their heroic acts.

Of the total number 130 were gold medals which were given almost exclusively to men who had lost their lives in performing the act of heroism; 13,000 of the medals were of silver and the remainder bronze.

As is invariably the case, most of these decorations went to the infantry and especially to the specialist troops, such as the grenade throwers, bersaglieri or sharpshooters and Alpini.

The decorations conferred during this single day represent only a small percentage of all the recognitions that have been won by Italian soldiers and conferred on them during the war.

TUJUNGA

The Red Cross drive is still on with gratifying results—99 signers—and it is hoped a large percentage of those here will help to make us a banner town, seeing we did so well in the last Liberty Loan drive.

Virgil Wilson, brother-in-law of Mrs. Ludke, whose family have been here for the past two weeks, joined them on Sunday and will remain over the holidays.

Mr. Slettkin and wife, who have been residents of Tujunga the past three months, returned to their apartments in Los Angeles Tuesday.

Charles W. Dean came up from Brawley for a holiday visit at his home here, and reports business brisk in Brawley. The first unit of the new highway from Mecca to Brawley will be under headway the first of the year under the supervision of Mr. Spelmeyer. Every effort will be made by the various Chambers of Commerce to have this road finished in order to send out the fresh fruit and vegetables to various markets each day. This will make the traveling much easier to and from Imperial Valley through the elimination of the sandy road through the desert.

Mr. Leckie entertained Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and children on Christmas day.

There was quite an enjoyable entertainment at Bolton Hall on Christmas Eve. A large Christmas tree, beautifully decorated, made glad the hearts of the children, and there was a bountiful supply for everybody of apples, oranges, nuts and candies. A cheerful fire in the huge fireplace added comfort and pleasure. There was a good attendance. The exercises were opened by singing, followed with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Wieman. Then followed the ceremony of lighting the candles on the tree, and while the lights were low a quartet of male voices sang "Silent Night." ## BIKE HOSPITAL PRIZES

The ancient wheel in the window of the Bike Hospital in this city, said to be the first bicycle ever made, when weighed was found to tip the scale at 65 pounds. Various guesses had been registered by boys and girls who had entered the contest, but a large number guessed the exact amount, those coming nearest being listed as follows:

Robert Lehman, 435 North Louise Street, 65 pounds; Paul Edmonds, 1218 Cedar Street, 65 pounds; Paul Hutchinson, 246 North Orange Street, 65 pounds; Elizabeth Phillippi, 519 Fairmont, 65 pounds; Philip Henderson, 917 North Louise, 65 pounds; Burton Kuntzner, 405 West Lexington Drive, 65 pounds; George Black, 303 North Louise, 65 pounds; Lawry Truitt, 310 North Cedar Street, 65 1/2 pounds; Walter McManus, 517 Doran Street, 64 pounds.

The original prize offered was a bicycle tire valued at $3.75. Because so many guessed the exact figure, the Fisk Rubber Co. extended its offer and agreed to give two extra tires, making three prizes in all.

The prizes will be given away at 8 p. m. Saturday at the Bike Hospital at 120 North Brand Boulevard.
